

AFTER VISITING PATIENTS AT THE CANCER CENTER

-Debra Tayloe

I open the back door
step out into the dark
a patch of moonlight

a single star
in the left sky
the moon to my right

the presence of
every hidden thing
crystalline

the moments relentless I dig my toes in hang on for dear life

the coming
the going
incessant